MELT the millions of cakes of Ivory Soap which were sold last year into one gigantic cake and it would be bigger than the biggest battleship that floats.

"Isn't that wonderful?" you say. "Shows what advertising will do, doesn't it?"

Yes. And it also shows how great is the demand for a pure soap that sells at a fair price.

A peculiar instance of conjugal affection occurred some time ago in Vermont. An aged couple, who, through half a century of married life, had wrangled with each other, were in all probability soon to be separated. The husband was taken sick, and was believed to be near his end. The old wife came to his bedside, and, after carefully examining and taking stock of his condition, exclaimed: "Why, daddy, your feet are cold, your hands are cold, and your nose is cold!" "Wa'al let 'em be cold," "Wa'al, daddy, you're goin' to die." "Wa'al, I guess I know what I'm 'bout." "Daddy, wats to becom of me if you die?" "I dunno, and I don't care. Wa'l I want to know is, wats to becom of me?"

A little girl and her mother were walking down the street when they came to a place where straw had been spread over the pavement to deaden the noise, because of the illness of a woman living in that square. "Oh, look, mamma," cried the little girl. "What's all that hay doing out in the street?" "That's because Mrs. E. has a tiny baby, which God just sent her," said her mother, gently, and after a moment's pause, the little girl said slowly: "Gawdious, she must have been packed well!"

The pompous judge glared sternly over his spectacles at the tattered prisoner, who had been dragged before the bar of justice on a charge of vagrancy. "Have you ever earned a dollar in your life?" he asked, in fine scorn. "Yes, your honor," was the response. "I voted for you at the last election."

Argument in the case of Sarah Nakookoo et al., by guardian, versus David Noholoa was completed yesterday in the supreme court and taken under advisement. A. G. M. Robertson appeared for the plaintiffs-appellants, and Holmes, Stanley & Olson appeared for the defendant-appellee. The case involves an interesting point of law.

Several large land transfers were recorded yesterday in the bureau of conveyances of property in and around Honolulu. Ex-Governor Archibald S. Cleghorn has disposed of his land at Kaaalawai to Richard Ivers for the consideration of $8500. The property, which covers 2.28 acres, is lot E in the district. After supporting her three-year-old child for several years, a Japanese woman, Kayo Nakato, has managed to secure a divorce from the husband that deserted her, and incidentally passes over her daughter for her ex-husband to provide for. In the libel filed by the libellant in the circuit court, she states that the couple were married in 1901 at Hiroshima Ken, Japan, and came here in 1903. Several years afterwards, the husband, Matsusaburo Nakato, flew the coop, and since that time Kayo has been living at the Susannah Wesley Home and supporting Misao, the daughter.

Appealing on points of law, C. H. McBride brings a suit filed and successfully fought against him in the district court, by the Hawaiian News Co., to the jurisdiction of the circuit court. The appeal was made after the issuance of an order from the lower court for him to appear and swear to what debts were owing to him. On August second, the plaintiff secured a decision against him to recover $55.91, which they allege that the payment as per the judgment has not been made, and the further proceeding on their part caused the matter to reach the circuit court.

AMUSEMENTS

The Park Theater.

Owing to the moisture in the atmosphere the same program advertised for last night will be given tonight at the Park Theater. It is a good one and should not be missed. "The Sandman" is the piece de resistance of the program and is a clever bit. How he puts the children to sleep by throwing sand in their eyes and then fools the big "copper and his girl" are sufficient to make the whole world laugh. Little Miss Moffitt is also good. It will make the children laugh from the beginning to the end of the series. The little girls will sing their songs and make merry. The Park is a good place to spend an evening and the pictures may be depended upon to be all right from every point of view. The program will be changed on Thursday night.

The Empire Theater.

Dickens is to be pictured at the Empire Theater tonight when the play of Oliver Twist will be shown. It is a great play and in recent years has been made one of the greatest of Dickens' stage creations. Elita Proctor is the Nancy Sykes of the drama and upon her falls much of the responsibility of the success of the play. "The Frontiersman's Bride" will probably catch the praise of the ladies in the audience because of the love-tongues shown in the pictures. It gives great exhibitions of rough riding. The comedy pictures are good and the place should be well filled tonight.

NOTICE.

Commencing with today, the Packard cars operated by Geo. C. Beekley Jr., of the Honolulu Auto Stand, Alakea and Hotel streets, will charge for all trips made within the usual fifty-cent limits, one dollar for either one or two passengers.

During the Spanish war there was a regiment recruited from Conshohocken, Cinnaminson, Wawa, and Manunka Chunk, and the ladies of those Pennsylvania towns got together after the regiment's departure and made a lot of pajamas for the soldiers. Pajamas were a new thing in those days—smart, exclusive, and so forth; the ordinary man wore a night shirt. Well, these pajamas, in a half-dozen big packing cases, went duly outward, but no word of their arrival ever came back. The ladies waited about a month. Then they wired to the colonel, a genial, whole-souled Conshohocken: "Anxious to know if you got the pajamas last month." The colonel had never heard of the pajamas. He wired back. "Story is a lie, out of whole cloth, probably fabricated by enemies to ruin me politically. Admit am not total abstainer, but never had pajamas last month or any other time."

Senator Dolliver in a recent campaign told this story to illustrate the logic of an opponent: Did you ever hear about the young woman in Fort Dodge? One spring morning she sat on the piazza of her pretty little home sewing a button on her husband's coat. The husband himself appeared, and she said, fretfully, "It's a perfect shame the careless way the tailor sewed this button on. This is the fifth time I've had to sew it on again for you."
